Granite & Stone / Information Form

Granite & Stone are beautiful products of nature. They are formed over hundreds of years naturally. Because of granite & stone's natural beauty, it will have some minor, so called, "imperfections," which is part of why YOU are choosing a stone product in the first place!

These characteristics are not caused by production or installation procedures. They are strictly the natural appeal of all stone products. Some characteristics you might see are: veins, color variations, small "crack like" lines, chunk or chip variations, among others, inherent to different types and colors or certain stones. They should be appreciated, like all of nature's beauty!!

I _____ (customers name printed) understand all of the above and accept the granite or stone product I am purchasing not to be "perfect" and accept that a natural product has "imperfections" inherent to itself. I release A Direct Cabinet Distributors and sales staff of all liabilities concerning the inherent qualities of the stone.
